PREFACE

THE Auction Season of 1905-1906, reported in this twelfth volume of AMERICAN BOOK-PRICES CURRENT, surpassed every previous season in the number of lots sold and probably also in the total sum realized, but, as to this latter fact, the definite figures are not available. The total number of lots included in the 182 catalogues, representing 414 sessions, amounts to 139,383. Of these some 14,600 have found a place in our record.

Although the quality of the material offered has been generally good, the extremely rare collector's books which bring very high prices have been, with a few exceptions, conspicuous by their absence.

The highest price paid during the season for a single volume was $1500.00, realized by C. F. Libbie & Co. for a copy of Poe's second book "Al Aaraaf, Tamerlane and Minor Poems," Baltimore, 1829, at the Appleton Sale in May. Mr. William Nelson's copy of the book, with presentation inscription, signed, by Poe, and having also numerous corrections in his autograph, sold in the Peirce sale in 1903 for $1825.00. Uncut copies of the book had previously brought $1300.00 in the French sale in 1901 and $1100.00 in the McKee sale in 1900. The next highest priced single volume sold during the season, was a third Quarto of "The Merchant of Venice," London, Printed by M. P. for Laurence Hayes, 1637, a duplicate from the Lenox collection, sold for the New York Public Library by the Anderson Auction Company on May 4. This brought $1300.00. The recent increase in value of all early editions of the separate plays of Shakespeare, the four folios, and early books by contemporaries which refer, even in an obscure manner, to Shakespeare, or which may have been read by Shakespeare, is perhaps the most notable advance in prices shown in recent years. Owing to the absolute rarity of the books in these classes the advance is likely to be permanent.

The lot for which the highest price was paid during the season was a set of the four folios of Shakespeare, sold in the Henry G. Denny sale, by C. F. Libbie & Co., on January 30. The four volumes brought $8950.00. When this sum is compared with the £10,000 paid privately for the MacGeorge four folios in 1905, the Denny set seems at first glance, and to those not familiar with the fact that condition counts for very much in these high-priced books, to have been a great bargain. But, like most copies of the first folio, the Denny copy lacked several leaves at both beginning and end, their place being supplied by facsimiles. The Third Folio, also, had two leaves in front and two at the end in facsimile. The Second and Fourth Folios were practically perfect, but in a set of the four editions the first and third must bear the major part of the price.

A set of Audubon's Birds and Quadrupeds, both the original folio editions, and both with the accompanying text, in all fifteen volumes, folio and octavo, which was sold in the Kemble Sale by Stan. V. Henkels, on April 19, for $4350.00, was another very valuable set.

Comparatively few items of rare early Americana were offered during the season. The best were in the library of William S. Appleton, sold by C. F. Libbie & Co., May 15 to 18. Among them were "The General Laws and Liberties of the Massachusetts Colony," Cambridge, Printed by Samuel Green for John Usher of Boston, 1672, with some supplemental laws bound in, which brought $530.00; "A Letter from New England concerning their Customs, Manners and Religion," Signed "J. W.", London, 1682, which brought $380.00; "An Abstract of a Letter from Thomas Paskell of Pennsylvania," London, 1683, which brought $300.00; and "Poor Richard's Almanac" for 1737, the fifth of the series, which brought $390.00.

The Library of the late Sir John Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons of Canada, sold by The Anderson Auction Company in five sessions, on February 19, 20 and 21, comprised over fifteen hundred lots, almost entirely Americana, and relating in large part to Canada, was, probably, the most important collection of Americana dispersed during the season. It was the library of a scholar rather than a book-collector and few of the very rare early books were included. A set of the collection of maps and views known as the "Atlantic Neptune" was perhaps the most notable item in the sale. It brought $360.00. Two portions of another important Library of Americana, that of the Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, were dispersed in two sales by Stan. V. Henkels. Part I, the Franklin collection, on December 14; Part II, Association Books, etc., on April 25 and 26. The historical portion of the Library will, it is promised, be offered during the coming season. Law libraries, as generally sold at auction, do not often contain many items of interest to the book collector. In the Dary sale, however, held by C. F. Libbie & Co., on May 2 there were four lots of Acts of the Assembly of South Carolina, which brought $730.00, $700.00, $1000.00, and $500.00, respectively. The portion of the Library of Frederick H. Comstock, dispersed by the Merwin-Clayton Sales Company on May 7, 8 and 9, was also principally Americana and included some good items. Mr. Charles E. Pyser's collection of first editions of American authors, the most notable offering of this kind since the Arnold sale, in 1901, was sold on February 1 and 2 by The Merwin-Clayton Sales Company. Lowell's "Commemoration Ode," 1865, a presentation copy with inscription in Lowell's autograph, brought $531.00. This was, as were the prices paid for some other rare items, the record price.

Among notable general libraries dispersed during the season, were those of Albert M. Palmer, T. S. Drowne, Charles L. Peacock, Charles A. Lighthipe and William H. Terry, the first dispersed by the Merwin-Clayton Sales Company, the others by the Anderson Auction Company. Another notable scholar's library, was that of Wilberforce Eames, of the New York Public Library, Part II of which was sold by the Anderson Auction Company on March 8.

Several notable collections of Autographs were dispersed, the largest being that of George S. Davis, of Detroit, sold by the Anderson Auction Company on April 30 and May 1 and 2. The collection of Mrs. George M. Moulton, of Chicago, and a portion of the collection of Thomas R. Proctor, of Utica, sold by the Merwin-Clayton Sales Company on November 9 and January 12, respectively, are worthy of mention. Some valuable autographs, including a series of forty Washington letters, were incorporated with Mr. Appleton's books and sold by C. F. Libbie & Co., in May. Other Autograph sales were held by all the various houses, and smaller lots of autographs were incorporated in many of the book sales. There is no doubt that the interest in autographs among collectors is on the increase. More lots are being offered at auction and prices of the specimens of the better class are certainly increasing.
